Riverfront Park

507 N Howard Street (47°39'37.20"N, 117°25'15.93"W)

One-hundred acres of beautifully manicured lawns and trees, interesting art and amazing attractions located in the heart of downtown Spokane.

The INB Performing Arts Center, Spokane Convention Center (located on Spokane Falls Blvd, the south boundary of the park) and the park itself are the legacy of Spokane's Expo '74 World's Fair. Plenty of parking is located along the south side of Spokane Falls Boulevard.

Turn right (north) on to Post St. (City Hall will now be on your left) to Mallon Ave. Turn right on to Mallon Ave and proceed to...

The Flour Mill

621 W Mallon Avenue (47°39'54.33"N, 117°25'18.92"W)

Listed on the National Register of Historic Places, the Flour Mill was originally built over a hundred years ago to harness the energy of the Spokane River to grind wheat into flour. It was renovated during the excitement prior to the Expo '74 World's Fair into an eclectic collection of specialty shops, eateries and office space.

On the north side across the street you will see the...

Spokane Veterans Memorial Arena

720 W Mallon Avenue (47°39'55.60"N, 117°25'20.65"W)

The Spokane Arena is a 12,500-seat, state-of-the art, multi-purpose venue. The Arena has hosted a variety of events and concerts, numerous Men's and Women's NCAA Basketball Tournaments and the record-breaking 2007 and 2010 US Figure Skating Championships. Home of the Spokane Chiefs Hockey Club and the Spokane Shock Arena Football Team, the Arena is dedicated to creating event experiences that truly "wow" their guests.

Monroe Street Bridge

(47°66'18.85"N, 117°42'65.69"W)

Spanning the Spokane River, the Monroe Street Bridge was built in 1911.

The beautiful deck arch bridge was designed by John Chester Ralston and Kirtland Cutter. After crossing the bridge, you will immediately see the Spokane Club on your right. The iconic building was also designed by Kirtland Cutter to suit the already well-established club of nearly 500 members in 1911. Continuing on Monroe, on the left will appear one of the tallest buildings in Spokane, the Review building. Home to The Spokesman-Review, the building is curved to model the turn of the street in front of the building.

Martin Woldson Theater at The Fox

1001 W Sprague Avenue (47°39'24.55"N, 117°25'37.20"W)

Constructed by renowned architect Robert Reamer in an art deco style, the Fox Theater opened in 1931. With 2,300 seats and air conditioning (the first building in Spokane to have it), the Fox was the largest and most unique venue of its kind in the region. Inside the theater, murals evolve from underwater floral patterns at the lobby level to landscapes of castles, rivers and clouds on the mezzanine, culminating with a magnificent 60-foot wide sunburst that dominates the auditorium. Following a $31 million renovation, the Fox reopened its doors in 2007, retaking its place as the premier historical performing arts venue in the Inland Northwest.

Steam Plant

159 S Lincoln Street (47°39'18.18"N, 117°25'30.01"W)

Built in 1916, the Steam Plant was constructed to produce steam heat and electrical power for all of downtown Spokane. The twin 225-foot smokestacks, now Spokane landmarks, were hand-formed using a total of 333,340 bricks. In operation until 1986, the Steam Plant produced 15,000–370,000 pounds of steam pressure per hour virtually every hour of the day or night.

Spokane Valley Hutton Settlement

9907 E Wellesley Avenue

The Hutton Settlement Children's Home is the end-product and dream of Levi and May Hutton. Both raised as orphans, the Hutton's were determined to make a difference. After becoming millionaires through investing in the Hercules Mine in Wallace, Idaho, the Hutton's motivation was finally matched with monetary backing. Opened in 1919, the Hutton Settlement has continued to provide a safe haven for children in line with the Hutton's legacy.

Spokane Valley

Arbor Crest Wine Cellars

4706 N Fruit Hill Road

Located in the Cliff House, a national historic landmark, this self-sustaining winery sits perched on a basalt cliff 450 feet above the Spokane River. Once the home of Royal Newton Riblet, an eccentric inventor, the grounds are as unique as the previous owner. Sample delicious, award-winning wine while enjoying the panoramic view of the countryside, the valley and the river. Bring a picnic and experience a summer concert on Sunday, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

North Spokane Green Bluff Growers

Day Mt. Spokane Rd and E Greenbluff Rd

The farms that make up Green Bluff Growers are a diverse group of more than 40 family-owned farms resting at the base of Mt. Spokane. Visitors can pick fresh fruits, vegetables and herbs at the farms from mid-June through late fall. The farms work together hosting several festivals throughout the season including the Strawberry Celebration, Cherry Festival (including the popular Cherry Pickers Trot and Pit Spit), Peach Festival and Apple Festival. Of course, no self-respecting family in the region would consider buying a pumpkin from a store. Picking a pumpkin fresh is a must!

North Spokane Cat Tales Zoological Park

17020 N Newport Highway

A zoological park featuring over 40 big cats (Lions, Pumas, Lynx and more), Cat Tales even has a Liger - and to think nobody believed Napoleon Dynamite.
